We understand that environmental protection is an important management task. We ensure that it is known in all company functions and at all levels. We guarantee its implementation in concrete objectives and behaviour rules.

We understand the observance of legal and binding obligations as minimum standard and aim at higher level of environment protection throughout the company.

Our decision making is based on the expectations having internal and external interested parties on our company and we provide them the necessary information.

We are conscious of the influences our production processes have on the environment. Importance is attached to the minimization of this impact and to respect the philosophy "Prevention is better than cure".

Stahlwerk Thüringen has nominated appropriate responsible employees whose task is to implement and to further develop this environmental policy in their fields of expertise.

We aim at the permanent improvement of the company environmental protection by using modern production technologies, by monitoring the impact of relevant environmental aspects and by following the ecological footprint our products.
